“ She was my teacher at Hampton then I went to Towson for two years and she was the principal there and she and my Mom were best friends. I was always called down to her office so she could give me something for my Mom. All her handmade purple sweaters came from my Mom. Mrs. Coale was a wonderful woman!!

“ Mrs. Coale was my first grade teacher at Hampton. She was the most lovely teacher I ever had. She loved the color purple and read to us the book, Harold and his Purple Crayon. That was the first color she taught us because it was her favorite. I can still hear her telling us that and reading us the story. She was caring, kind and was a great start to my education experience. I saw her again right after I married. She was working at Keelty's office at the new Mays Chapel North location. She asked me what color my bridesmaids dresses were. I told her they were periwinkle, my favorite color. She corrected me and told me periwinkle is a shade of purple!! Got to love this beautiful lady. She was my older brothers' charm school teacher and when my mom had an operation when I was in her class, she had all of us write her get well soon cards. Wonderful memories. May eternal rest find you Mrs. Coale. We all loved you so very much. Carolyn Brennan Wescott

“ Mrs. Coale was my first grade teacher. She was an extraordinary woman full of life, enthusiasm and patience. She never got angry but made sure all of us knew what she expected. She was a true gem who influenced the lives of so many countless children. Thank you for sharing her with us. Professor Nancy Hubbard

“ Mrs. Coale was my wonderful kindergarten teacher in the early 70's at Hampton Elementary School. She taught me that school is wonderful (and how to take turns). I remember her being patient, loving and full of fun. I graduated from college Phi Beta Kappa, and am now a theatre teacher for students in grades k-8. My condolences to her family and friends.
