“ I'm so sorry to hear of the loss of Andrew. I haven't seen him since we were kids growing up in the neighborhood but I remember him fondly. My deepest condolences to the Osmeyer family and all of his friends.

“ My friend, it might have been a random text or 1 minute phone call, just long enough to say I love you Donald and me to say I love you back Bro, I'll miss those text and 1 minute calls, Rest in Paradise Bro.

“ My sincerest condolences to his loving wife Shawn, and to his wonderful children, Jack, Abby, Ben, Christian & their extended family. This compassionate, loving young man was selfless in his support to others in his life, closely followed his children’s athletic pursuits, enjoyed professional success, and was a fantastic athlete in basketball, golf and softball winning championships. Andy was a member of the St. Pius X Fathers’ Club, and a dedicated volunteer to lend a hand to any cause, family, or individual. Straight class. He was a fierce, unwavering friend to many and I am a better man for his valued friendship & times shared over the years. Rest Gently, “37”. Champions Adjust.

“ After years went by I got to reunite with Mr O at my dad (Mark’s) Buffalo bills tailgate last fall and he instantly lit up my world again and made me feel so special. Not long after that I moved out and into an apartment and dad and I had no idea how to build this IKEA bed and we call Mr O and he is beyond helpful while making us laugh. Of course he can build a bed from face time!

“ Always a Man serving others, like when we opened Woodrow’s and needing friends to move in the 1258 pound smoker. He was the first to volunteer, and only one of us knuckleheads who knew how to drive a forklift.

Also directed another bunch of us to help decorate the Smith’s home, after Greg’s passing, for Christmas.....dozens of other memories of his sweet soul I can recount... #37. Love ya “ Shawn, Jack, Abby, Ben and Christian. Your dad's passing is crushing news for everyone because your dad was a spectacular human, both fun and funny, selfless and caring. If I am so sad, I know your grief is horrible. I wish you peace of heart in the days and years to come. We will never forget him.
