“ Easter in the fifties was so very, very special and my Aunt Ann was the one who hostessed an event at her lovely home every year. She was the beloved middle sister to my father, the late James S. Morrow, Jr - father of 6 - who died so young (42) in 1958. . Also, I truly believe that my sister, Mary, was and is like this special Aunt in many ways. My grief is especially that on this busy, busy road of life my mom and siblings ended up so very far away which by hundreds of miles separated us from the Bond family. My memories left me holding in my heart a love not only for my Aunt Ann, but for the cousins that meant so much to me. At 13, when my dad died, I had many vivid memories, and enjoyed the trip down memory lane as I grieved this loss.
