“Pete & Dick became the best of friends of my family since 1963 when we were stationed together in the Public Health Service in New Orleans. They were our next door neighbors. Pete was the funniest, sweetest, smartest, wisest, kindest, always ready for a party, giving, outgoing, active, witty, classiest, well educated ladies I've ever known. And boy were my folks and the Bouchards ready for Mardi Gras! There are not enough adjectives to describe and compliment Pete. I will truly miss our conversations about the "old days" and solving all the problems with the Federal Government :-). The good news is that she is back together with the love of her life, Dick, who always kept her laughing. God bless and keep you both. Love always,

“Petey was a sweet and funny ball of fire. She lived with strong convictions and love of her family. Nothing was more important to her. Until the very end she was on top of current events. Petey touched my life and heart in so many ways. She will be missed but I know she is happy to be reunited with her dear husband. 🌹
