“ This is newly written in 2025. I am still missing Aunt June who was a mother-figure as well as aunt to me and perhaps to some of my cousins. She was always welcoming and her home felt like home to me. I will always miss her but hope to see her again in whatever comes next after this life.

“ Death beckoned her (Edith June Coffin) with outstretched hand
And whispered softly of an unknown land,
But she was not afraid to go
For though the path she did not know
She took death's hand without a fear
For God who safely brought her here
Had promised He would lead the way
Into eternity's bright day. by Helen Steiner Rice
