

Frank Opitz Ewing

December 13, 1951 - March 25, 2011

On March 25, Frank Opitz Ewing, beloved son of the late Hedwig (nee Opitz) and Alvin Robert Ewing; dear brother of Elaine E. Born and Barbara Anne Ewing; beloved brother-in-law of Richard Wilson Born; Devoted Uncle of Hedy Born Koczwara and her husband Philip and Richard Ewing Born; Devoted Great-uncle of Luca Wilson Koczwara.
Family and friends will remember Frank as a loyal, independent and proud person. He was an intelligent conversationalist on many topics, in part because of his enjoyment of reading, particularly non fiction. His special interest was history. From boyhood he was intrigued with trains and their development. After a period of traveling in his twenties, he lived most of his life in Baltimore and he had a genuine affection for the city and its neighborhoods. For those who loved him, there were aspects of his life that were hard to understand or accept. After many years of substance abuse, he entered programs at Johns Hopkins, Union Memorial Hospital and Awakenings, among other places to help in dealing with health and addiction issues. He was justifiably proud to have been in recovery for over ten years. We will miss him very much.
