“ I met Sean’s Gram just one time, at his and my daughter Aparna’s wedding. A lady of grace and dignity She held my hand and told me how happy she was on that day and then we talked about our families . She did talk lovingly about her five boys at great length! May she be at peace as she joins her husband.

“ oh what memories, what so many dear memories I ll never forget. twice we found ourselves alone so we kinda [snuck] a rosary in, once at 'Louies' house on the deck and the other on my patio in ypsilanti.i don't know if anyone knew this but I loved watching golf with her Joan would know somewhat who was winning but seem to know the game especially when Phil N-Ickerson missed a short putt or would ask after Zack Johnson won the masters 'tom is Zack Johnson a christian /. Joan had my back as she would get in Docs and terri's case as a warning if they messed with my tv.ter would drop her off at st Joseph hospital for mass , I would b waiting to escort her in ;it tickle her that I would carry her purse. we both had a problem with the hotdogs and onions 'can't go there. what a friend and spiritual guidance she provided. “ I remember Gram as a thoughtful, kind hearted, accepting, and selfless woman and grandmother. She was always the sweetest. When I hear my Dad’s stories of Gram “getting her belt out”; I know to have been a care taker of 5 boys (O’CONNOR BOYS) she had to be tough! She accepted the challenge and managed to provide a safe, stable, and supportive family, which has created the foundation for all our families today.

Gram was always welcoming and considerate of others, which was the same feeling my wife, Aparna, had when they first met. It’s impossible not to love and respect an individual such as Gram. I’ll always remember how she spoiled us with treats upon every visit. Normally fig newtons or ice cream sandwiches.

I’m sad to see her leave this world but I’m happy she has been reunited with Pop in heaven.

Rest Peacefully Gram.

Love Sean, Aparna, Aria and Liam
