“ Dear Annmarie, Elaine, and Frank,
You may not remember me, but my late husband Andy Weinfeld and I (and Jonathan and Michael) lived on the corner of St. Albans and Tunbridge. For many years, you and your parents were our neighbors, caddy corner on Tunbridge. I remember them both fondly and am sorry that they're no longer here to enjoy you and their grandchildren, the light of their lives.

About two years ago while visiting Peggy Otenasek, I saw Marie at Blakehurst. Her mind was as sharp as ever. I was surprised she remembered me, since it had been such a long time since we've seen each other.

My sincerest condolences to you and your families,
Ann (Weinfeld) Saunders
