“ I knew Nick in the '60s at Chicago. He was certainly a person of good character, willing to do the work. He is missed.

“ Nicholas will be missed by all of us at Autobahn of Towson. He was a valued customer at our shop, and he wanted to keep his cars running as long as possible. He always appreciated our service. We will miss him. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family.

“ He loved farmers' markets (Towson and downtown), sitting by the fire watching Downton Abbey, and good grammar. His house at 116 Homeland Ave. was his castle. Not a man of many Associates, many at the Towson Courthouse (Land Records) and the nearby staff of local title firms will remember his warmth. A lifelong learner who loved museums, books, and lectures/talks. He was the first in the family to discover the stunning beauty of the Pacific Northwest, and was responsible for all three children's later ties.

He loved animals and nature (once appearing in the Towson Times in an article on the welfare of the Courthouse squirrels) and was an avid supporter of local and national organizations. Had a bit of a quirky restaurant habit of wanting to overengage with a server, as well as "overorder".

See you on the other side.
