“ I will miss Norma and her transparency, self-deprecating humor, hospitality, generosity, simplicity and a whole host of other virtues. She was the perfect wife and partner for cousin/uncle Junior. But I'm encouraged by words from LA Marzulli's article: "Jesus wept 2000 years ago at the tomb of his friend. Death is a reality of life and all of us are headed to meet it at some point. Yet, we have the promise when He returns, He will put away death and we will no longer suffer from the slow aging process which leads to it. Paul admonished us, if Jesus did not rise from the dead, we are the most miserable of men and women. We will celebrate His resurrection next week and this is the pivotal point on which Christianity rest. Oh Death, where is they sting?" May she rest in peace in the bosom of the heavenly Father - until we meet again.
