“ I was a volunteer on the Appalachian Trail back in the '70's when I first met Paul. I went on to become part of the professional staff of the Appalachian Trail Conservatory (then “Conference”) and retired in 2018. Paul and I had little in common socially or politically but always trusted and deeply respected one another, and became friends. While our time in the field waned, we kept in touch annually with Christmas greetings. Paul was a wonderful man and I am deeply sorry to know that he has moved on. I know the good Lord has a great trail worker and a truly gracious gentleman who recently arrived!

“ Going on a trail maintenance trips with Paul was a lot of fun. There are so many fond memories of sharing a ride and working together while chatting about various things. Rest In Peace, Paul. I'll always think of you with a smile.
