“ I am stunned at the passing of Richard. I have known him since Junior High School, and considered him my closest friend via Facebook, where I was able to reconnect with him. He had a cutting sense of humor, and spoke the truth of God in everything he expressed to me. I will miss him greatly, but am glad I knew him as a friend. May the Lord show mercy and comfort to all his family, with my deepest sympathies

“ Richard was extremely funny, and he approached every life situation as an opportunity to pocket a funny story some time later down the road. Gosh he was funny. And he loved kids. When I told him about my 7 year old daughter's sweet fascination with the movie, "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness", Richard found and sent a copy of that movie for Grace. He was kind and thoughtful, and true to his faith, political views and personal convictions. This world has lost a good man.

“ Richard was a wonderful man with a great wit and the ability to understand complicated issues and not be afraid to comment on them.....yet he was always ready to listen to another point of view while remaining strong in his convictions. I will miss his humor and his input. My husband, Myles, and I send our prayers to the Brizendine family and hope that, in time, your pain will be eased and your memories of him sustain you.

“ The day you left us was so unexpected, there wasn't even a chance to say good-bye. But deep inside we know that you are now okay, and each one of us hold special memories of happy times with you that will always remain that way. This is our good bye letter, letting you know we'll miss you and will always love you. Love Carroll and Jeanine
