“ I just learn the death of my beloved friend (Mom) Ruby. I met Ruby on Facebook and we became mutual friend in 2011. We were so much connected and she introduce me to his son Adam Troy. Ruby was very caring, inspiring, and had love for humanity. Going through our conversation then, I found out that Ruby care more about black people and the injustice they continue to face in the the hands of police. Last time I heard from Ruby was in March 2012 shortly before I came to United States and she was complaining about her illness and I responded with prayers. Since then I was messaging and finding her whereabouts but to no avail.

Just today my good friend came to my mind and I decided to look him up and found the shocking news that she passed away 6 years ago. This is devastating to me and I will pray for her soul to rest in power.

She is a great human being and I will love you forever even in the next world! My condolences to her dearest son Adam and the entire family.
