“ Grandma, today I set and reminsce and thought about some of the memories I shared with you growing up. You were so loving and caring, when I think about conversations we shared you always asked about me how others close to me were doing and how I was doing. I’ve never even heard you raised your voice before 😊 I don’t think a lot of grandchildren can say that. I believe I will see you again but until then I’m going try leave the same legacy you left behind so my children/grandchildren and love ones will have wonderful memories of me just you’ve done. I love you Grandma❤️

Your granddaughter,
Tarsha Jenkins

“ To Ray and the Jenkins family. You did not lose your mother, your mother is always with you. She's the whisper of leaves as you walk down the street. She's the smell of certain food you remember, flowers you pick, the fragrance of life itself. She's the cool hand on your brows when you are not feeling well. She is the sound of rain that lulls you to sleep. Your mother lives inside your laughter. She is the place you came from, your first home, and she is the map you follow with every step you take. She is your first love, your first friend, and nothing on earth can separate you, not space not even death. May your memories bring you comfort and peace.
