“ I met "Willie T." in the late '80s/early '90s in the Pentagon. As things developed, he and worked together for a number of years, often on sensitive, high visibility projects. He was the consummate professional--thorough, precise and focused. An excellent mentor and advisor to all around him. Willie was a true "Renaissance Man", worldly, well-read, well-travelled. He was also a kind, generous, loving and sensitive man. Willie T touched the lives of dozens, and is missed by many. I feel fortunate that he considered me to be a friend. My sincere condolences to the entire Williams family.
